

Professional Biography

David Appiah Ofori

BS – Actuarial Science
Managing Consultant & Country
Representative (Ghana)

EXPERIENCE

Mr. Ofori spent eight years in the corporate actuarial area of American Life Insurance Company (ALICO), the international life insurance division of American International Group (AIG) in Wilmington, Delaware, USA. He also spent three years as an Actuarial Consultant at Tillinghast-Towers Perrin consulting for various insurance companies in the areas of asset liability modeling, demutualization of mutual insurance companies and appraisal of insurance companies for mergers and acquisitions.

Mr. Ofori has a depth of experience in life insurance administration and liability valuation. At ALICO, USA, he oversaw all systems administration and liabilities valuation for ALICO's Central and Eastern European blocks of business. He worked closely with the product development teams in the various countries and ensured that products designed, could be easily implemented on ALICO's valuation systems for quarterly reserve calculations. He also worked very closely with the software developers to design, incorporate and implement new features of existing and new products into the valuation and modeling systems. His deep understanding for the subject and his dynamic abilities allowed him to work seamlessly with the various divisions within the organization.

At Tillinghast, he worked closely with attorneys for insurance companies on various market conduct litigation cases. He also worked with the insurance commissioner's offices on demutualization and mergers and acquisitions of life insurance companies.

His years at ALICO and Tillinghast have given him a deep sense and appreciation for project management, financial reporting, regulatory compliance and insurance policy and annuity funds administration.
